Jane's story: a white flag

In my family, my dad usually does the shopping. He drives to a supermarket and buys all we need. At the weekend, Mom goes with him. When he goes alone, in the evening after work, there is a problem. When he comes out of the shop, he can't find his car. There are too many cars near the supermarket. Dad can't remember where he has left his. I've read about it in a magazine and told him, "Put a piece of paper on the antenna of your car. When you come out, you will see the white flag on your car". The next time when he went shopping he did it. When he came out, he saw the car with a white flag... but there were ten others with the same white flag!
